

THE JUG ROCK OF INDIANA.

The Jug Rock is situated in a ravine in a forest not far from the east fork of the White River, Southern Indiana. It stands completely alone, and is about 70 ft. in height, one solid column of free-stone, measuring 50 ft. in circumference 4 ft. from the base, and not less than 65 ft. in the centre. The small tree on the top is a sarviceberry tree, which in the summer is profusely covered with pendent white flowers. The fruit is of the most delicate flavour. Wild bushes fringe the edge, and vines are depending from it all around. The base of the rock for upwards of 2 ft. is richly clothed with a variety of mosses, which, in the month of June, give it the appearance of a colossal flower-pot. The Engraving is from a sketch by Mr. George Donaldson, formerly of Glasgow.

ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST, ST. GEORGE'S-IN-THE-EAST.

The new Church of St. John the Evangelist, in the parish of St. George's-in-the-East, was consecrated by the Bishop of London on Friday week. The Archbishop of Canterbury took part in the ceremony, and preached the opening sermon. This church stands in Grove-street, Commercial-road East. It is a neat and handsome little edifice, built of brick and stone, in what is called the "middle-pointed" style of architecture. We give an illustration of the external design; but the spire is not yet built. It occupies a site which was formerly a cooper's yard, and it forms a decided ornament and the most striking architectural feature in the immediate locality in which it is situated. The church contains about 600 sittings. It is very tastefully finished, internally as well as externally. The architects were Messrs. Francis Brothers, and the builders were Messrs. Dove. The cost is defrayed by a fund raised chiefly through the instrumentality of the Incumbent designate, the Rev. J. M. Vaughan. From a statement of accounts circulated amongst visitors on the consecration day, it appears that £1500 has been voted (the money being either paid or promised) from the Bishop of London's Fund, £300 from the London Diocesan Church Building Society, £150 from the Incorporated Society, and £100 from Marshall's Charity, making, together with donations received and promised in answer to appeals of the committee, a total of £4500; but that there is an estimated deficiency of upwards of £1600, which requires to be made up before the church can be declared free of debt. At the luncheon given at the vestry-hall to the Bishop and a company of friends, Mr. Ayrton, M.P., bore his personal testimony to "the great and noble work" performed by Mr. Vaughan in this poor and very populous district of East London.
